Towards a Sustainable and Inclusive Chile

16 July 2020 – 16.00-18.00 CET
TUAC Webinar

In December 2019, the TUAC adopted a formal resolution for a sustainable and inclusive Chile, expressing “deep concern about the treatment of the massive social protest in Chile marked by the severe lack of social dialogue by government authorities” and calling upon the Government of Chile “to engage in transparent and democratic dialogue with all components of the Chilean civil society, including trade unions”, and for the OECD to “devise a roadmap for a sustainable and inclusive Chile”.

The TUAC also noted that Chile has the highest level of inequality of all OECD countries.

Since December, the situation in Chile has gone from bad to worse for the trade unions in the context of the Covid-19 outbreak. Among others, the CUT Chile expresses serious concern about the on-going lack of dialogue with civil society, the management of the health crisis and, more structurally, the severe imbalances between public and private provisions (of essential services, of social protection) and between collective and individual mechanisms in the Chilean economy and society.

The TUAC webinar on 16 July will be an opportunity for the CUT Chile to share their concerns and, from there, to help facilitate a dialogue between parties by making best use of the OECD standards and instruments to that end.
